About our company

Piper and Rose brings together the perfect combination of world business travel and effective business communication.

No longer is it sufficient to offer a plain vanilla flight booking service.

Arranging flights across Europe and the rest of the world is a given. We will do this quickly, efficiently at the most economic cost.

We know from our business travellers that email and video conferences are often not enough, hence they travel so much.

That's why we can extend our services to cover all aspects of communication for your business.
